Chinoia assists legal teams on a broad range of matters, from complex business litigation and civil litigation to trust and estate litigation, bankruptcy litigation, criminal defense cases, and regulatory proceedings.

She performs legal and factual research, reviews discovery and legal documents, prepares detailed reports that support case preparation, and conducts interviews and meetings with clients in connection with civil and criminal proceedings. Her attention to detail and emphasis on active listening and collaboration result in well-crafted work products that drive successful outcomes.

As a Black woman who immigrated to the U.S. as a child, Chinoia is passionate about ensuring equal access to justice in underrepresented minority communities. She contributes significant time and effort to pro bono and Criminal Justice Act cases.
