Education

Columbia University and The Juilliard School, B.A., 2024; English and Comparative Literature; Columbia-Juilliard Exchange Program; Dean's List.

Before joining Sher Tremonte, Jefferson supported accredited programs at Rikers Island through Columbia University's Justice-in-Education Initiative, where he was committed to the education of incarcerated individuals. At Columbia, he engaged with the narratives of communities impacted by nuclear testing fallout through his field research in French Polynesia. He also previously interned at nonprofits like The Korea Society and Nuclear Age Peace Foundation, promoting advocacy across diverse social and human rights issues.
